THE A-Z OF INTERIOR DESIGN PRINCIPLES

Rugs as the Foundation of Style

WHEN IT COMES TO INTERIOR DESIGN, RUGS DO MORE THAN WARM UP A SPACE—THEY ANCHOR IT, DEFINE IT, AND BRING HARMONY TO THE ELEMENTS WITHIN IT. FROM COLOUR THEORY TO SPATIAL BALANCE, HERE'S HOW THE RIGHT RUG CAN ELEVATE YOUR INTERIORS, TRANSFORMING A HOUSE INTO A HOME.

ANCHOR

A well-placed rug grounds the furniture, creating a sense of cohesion in open spaces. Whether framing a seating area or adding depth to a hallway, rugs provide visual stability.

BALANCE

Balance is key in interior design—too many bold patterns can overwhelm, while too few can make a space feel bland. A carefully selected rug can bridge the gap, adding texture and interest without overpowering the room.

FEVER TREE

Naturally Bold

Crafted with three distinct threads, the Fever Tree rug blends texture and depth, making it a bold yet elegant centerpiece.

Designed To Stand Out

This rug brings warmth and energy into any space. Its golden tones and intricate design create a striking statement.

KIGALI CROSSROADS

This collection captures the dynamic intersections of culture and movement, blending bold crisscrossing lines with rich, earthy tones to reflect the vibrant energy of Kigali's bustling streets.

COLOUR PSYCHOLOGY

The colour of a rug sets the mood. Warm tones (reds, oranges, and yellows) create an inviting, cozy atmosphere, while cool tones (blues, greens, and greys) bring a sense of calm and serenity. Neutrals act as versatile backdrops, allowing other décor elements to shine.

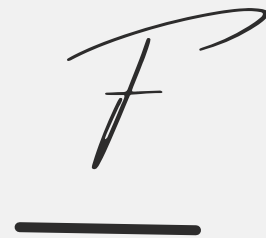

EDGING & BORDERS

A rug's border influences its visual weight. Thick borders draw attention and add structure, while a borderless design blends seamlessly into the space for a more modern feel.

DIMENSION

A rug can define spatial proportions, making a small room feel larger or a vast area feel more intimate. Oversized rugs create flow, while smaller rugs help section off functional areas in open-plan spaces.

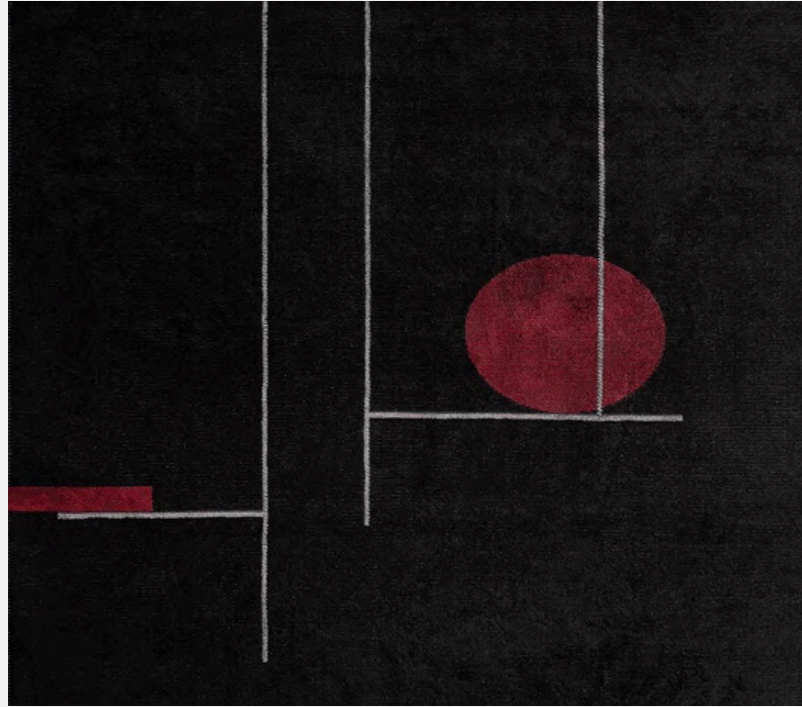

FOCAL POINT

A statement rug with bold patterns, rich textures, or unique craftsmanship can serve as the heart of the room, drawing the eye and setting the tone for the rest of the décor.

INDULGE IN THE serenity of THE RED MOON

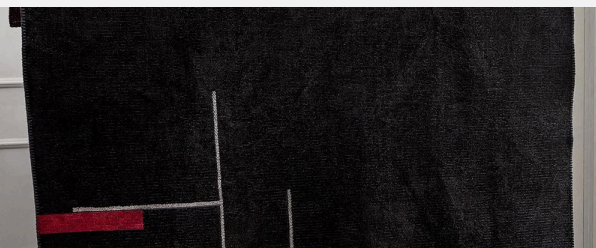

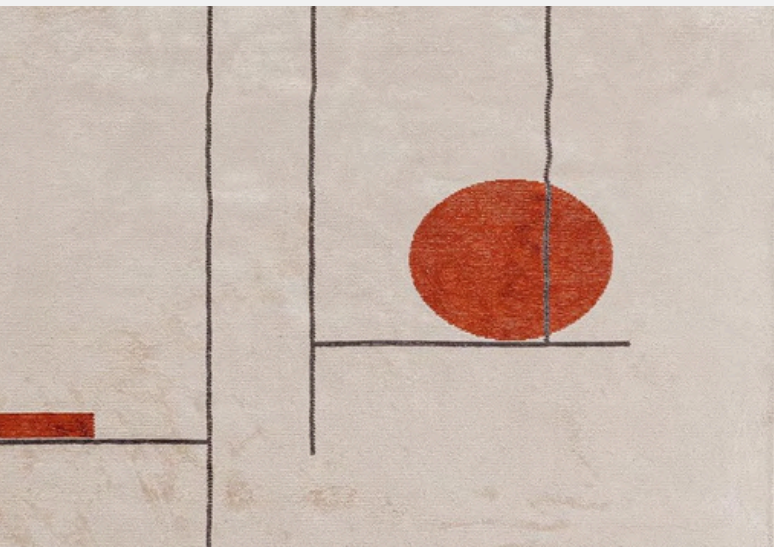

www.nkhome.co.za

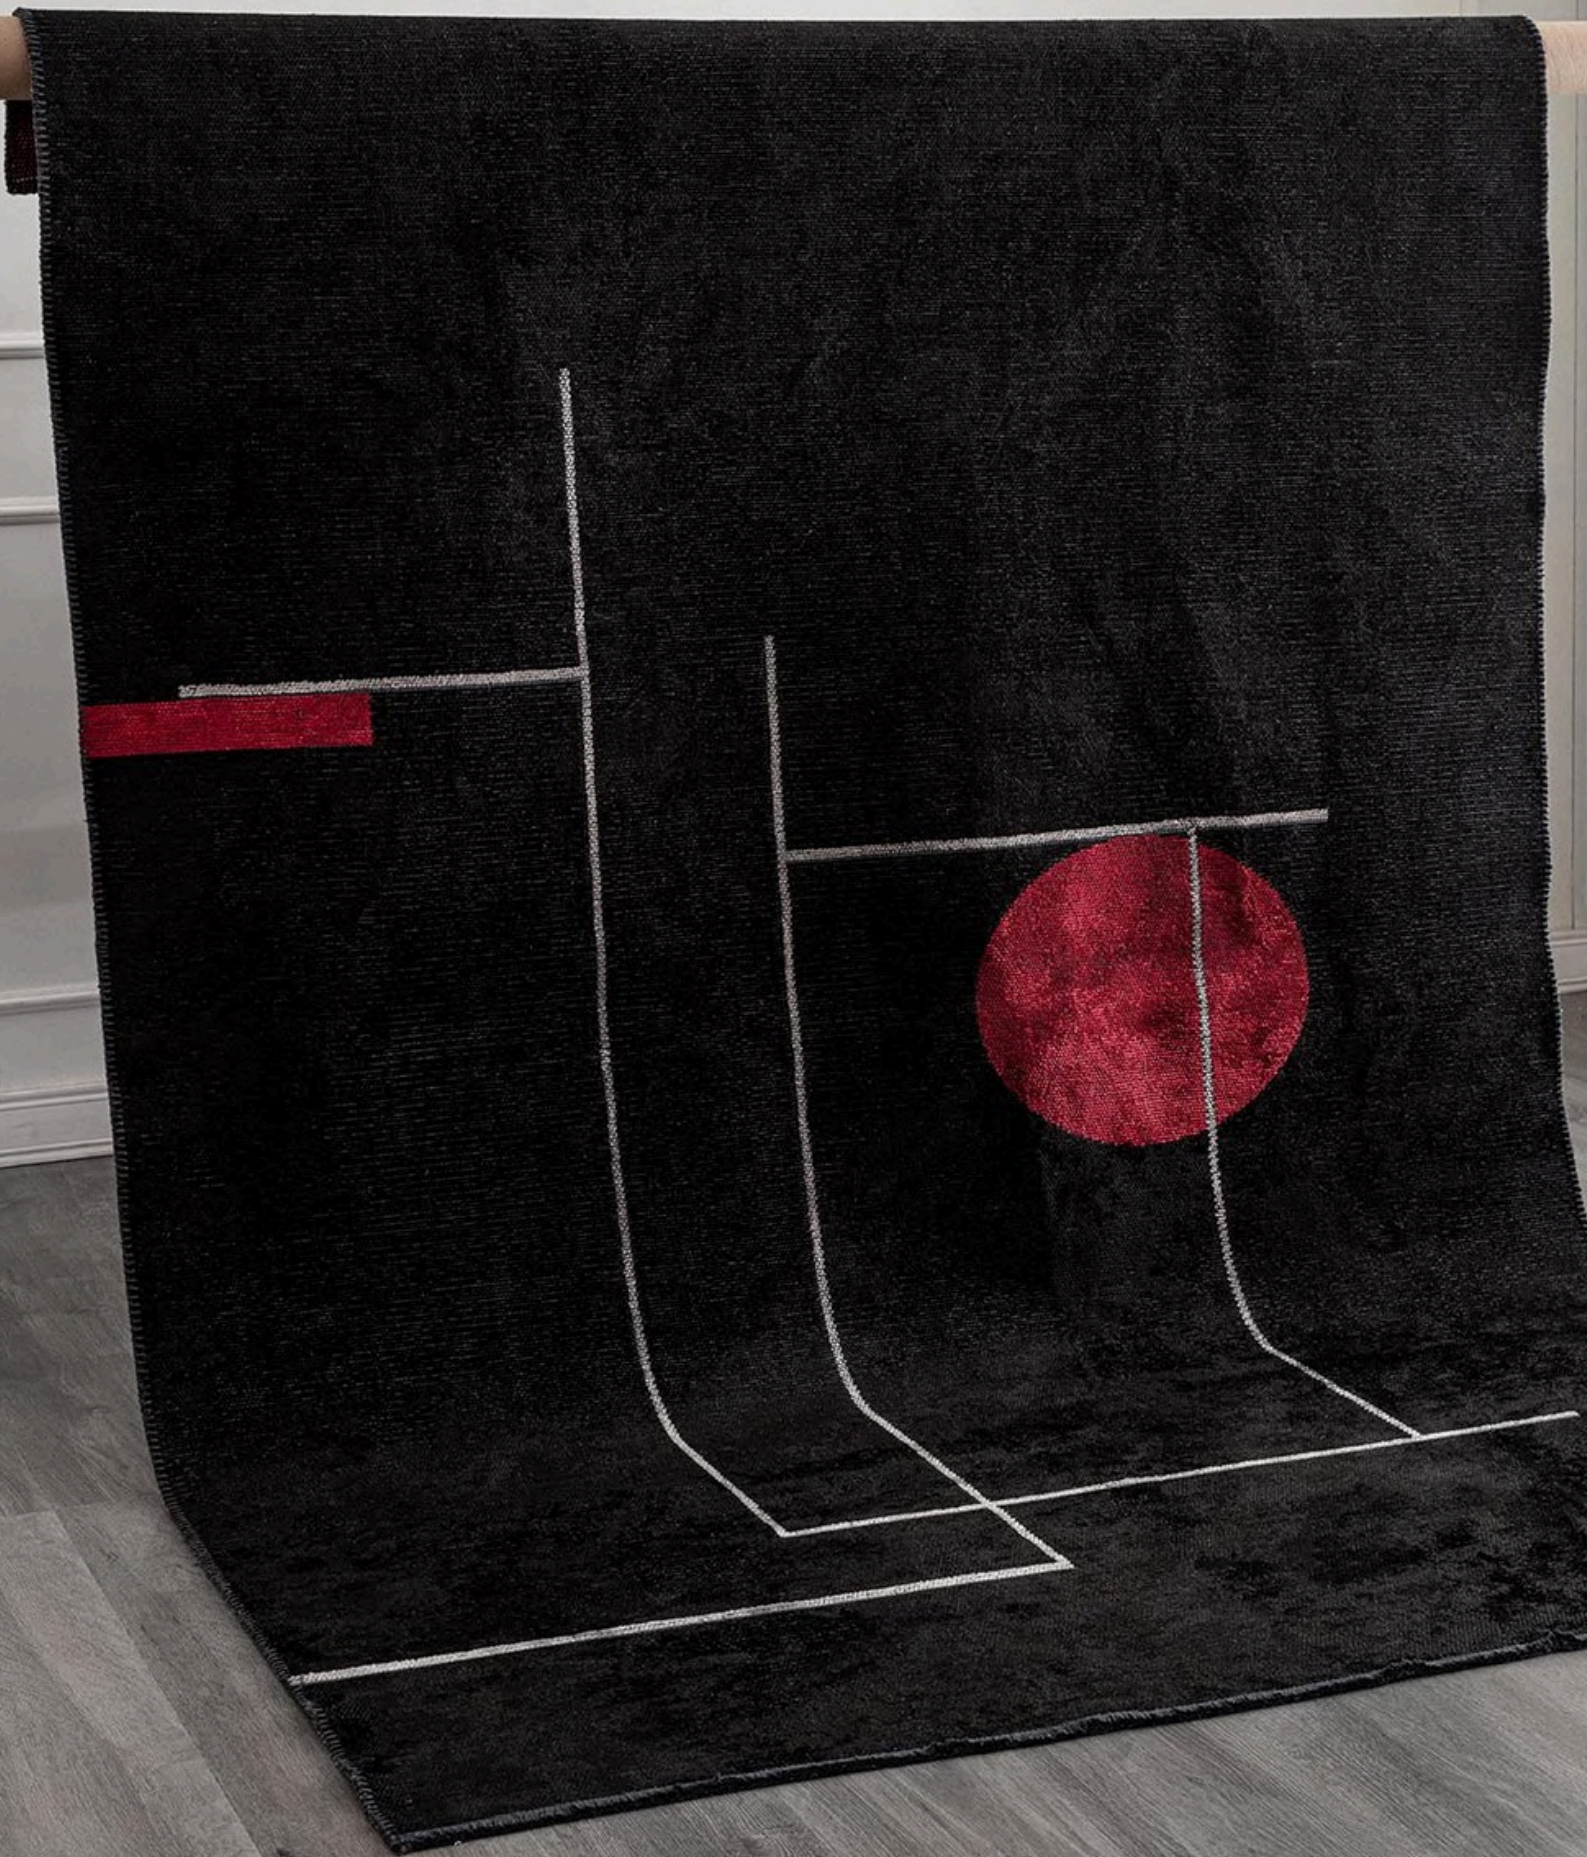

The RED MOON Rug draws inspiration from the awe-inspiring sight of a lunar eclipse over the vast African landscape—a rare celestial event that bathes the savanna in deep crimson hues. GEOMETRY

Geometric patterns create energy and rhythm, while organic shapes add softness and movement. A round rug can break up a room filled with straight lines, adding an unexpected design element.

ILLUSION OF SPACE

A striped rug elongates a room, while a large, light-coloured rug makes a space feel airier. High-contrast rugs add drama, while subtle gradients create depth.

HARMONY

A rug should complement—not compete with—the other elements in the space. Consider existing textures, furniture styles, and colour palettes to ensure a seamless integration.

JUXTAPOSITION

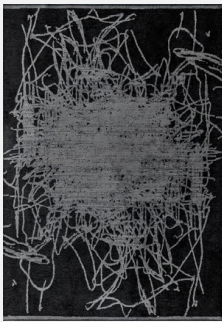

Mixing materials and styles creates dynamic contrast. A contemporary, abstract rug in a classic interior can add an element of surprise, while a traditional Persian rug in a minimalist space adds warmth and history.

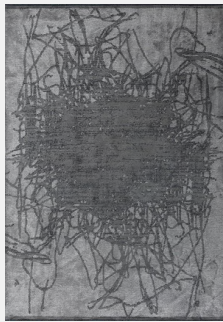

The SOWETO Rug pays homage to the cultural and historical richness of South Africa's most iconic township. Crafted using a weaving technique that blends four to six coloured threads, this rug features precise geometric blocks and sharp lines that mirror Soweto's evolving urban landscape. The neutral tones reflect the earthy backdrop of the African plains, while bold black accents symbolise resilience and strength. Perfect for contemporary interiors, the SOWETO Rug brings balance, structure, and a sense of architectural elegance to your space while celebrating the dynamic spirit of this vibrant community.

SCALE & PROPORTION

Choosing the right rug size is crucial. A too-small rug can make a room feel disjointed, while an oversized rug creates an enveloping effect, making the space feel complete.

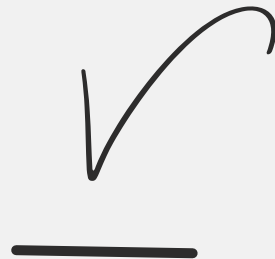

UNDERFOOT COMFORT

A rug isn't just about aesthetics—it should feel good underfoot. Soft, plush options enhance comfort in lounging areas, while durable, flat-weave styles work best in high-traffic zones.

TEXTURE & TACTILITY

The interplay of textures brings depth to a room. A shaggy rug softens sleek furniture, while a woven design adds structure to plush seating.

VISUAL WEIGHT

A dark, richly coloured rug adds depth and coziness, while a light, neutral rug creates an airy, open feel.

TRANQUILITY OF THE SEA

Inspired by Kenya's Lake Turkana, the Jade Sea Rug reflects the gentle ripples of water, bringing a sense of calm and effortless elegance to your space.

Like the shifting hues of dawn over water, the JADE SEA Rug is a masterpiece of movement and serenity. Inspired by the tranquil beauty of Kenya's Lake Turkana—often called the Jade Sea—this design is a reflection of nature's effortless flow. Woven using two distinct-coloured threads, it creates a mesmerising ripple effect, reminiscent of sunlight dancing on the water's surface.

The balanced tones and organic textures make it a versatile statement piece, seamlessly blending into modern, minimalist, or earthy interiors. Its plush, inviting surface adds warmth and depth, turning any space into a haven of relaxation. Whether placed in a serene reading nook, an airy open-plan living area, or a contemporary bedroom, the JADE SEA Rug grounds the room with a quiet elegance.

More than just décor, this rug invites you to pause—to step into a moment of stillness, where movement and calm coexist in perfect harmony. A reflection of nature's artistry, it transforms your space into a sanctuary of peace and connection.

SAVANNAH STONES

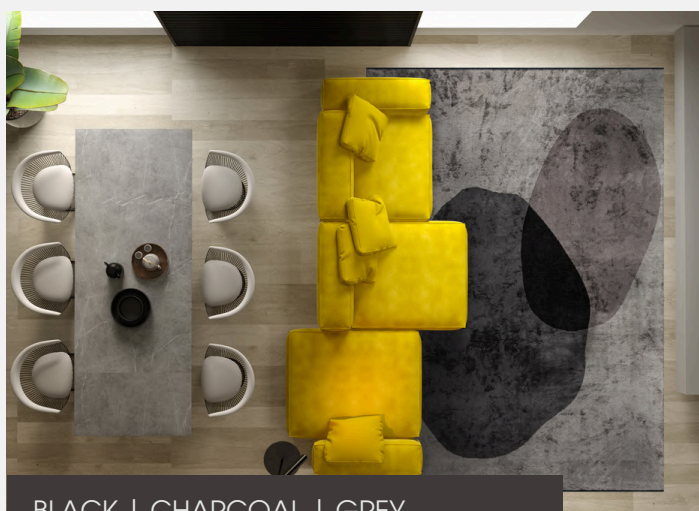

BLACK | CHARCOAL | GREY | CREAM

Nature has an effortless way of creating beauty—whether in the smooth, timeworn stones scattered across vast landscapes, the gentle ripples of a river, or the shifting hues of a desert sky. These natural elements are more than just scenery; they evoke a sense of calm, grounding, and connection. When woven into design, they transform a space into something more meaningful, bridging the gap between the outdoors and our everyday lives.

PURPLE | PINK | DAMSON | GREY

Incorporating organic textures, earthy tones, and abstract patterns into a home or workspace allows for a seamless blend of sophistication and serenity. The subtle contrast of soft neutrals against bolder accents mirrors the perfect imperfection found in nature, adding depth and character to an interior. Just as landscapes evolve with time, spaces should feel dynamic—layered with elements that inspire and bring warmth.
